

Keep Your Website Secure

Written by Webmaster

Saturday, 24 September 2011 15:46 -

Once you have a website setup for your business, you MUST make the effort to keep your website secure for both your customers and employees. Part of the ongoing maintenance of your website will be keeping all of the software that drives your website up to date. If you do not keep your website up to date, you risk having problems will your customers being able to trust your website and company.